Message from the Chief Justice and the Administrator of the Courts

Håfa Adai!

On behalf of the Judiciary of Guam, it is our privilege to present our 2018 Annual Report. In 1950, the Organic Act of Guam signaled the establishment of our modern local government to include the introduction of judicial authority through a District Court of Guam. That same year, the “Judiciary Act” strengthened and reorganized the island court system. 24 years later the Superior Court of Guam was created. From the same Court Reorganization Act of 1974, the first Supreme Court of Guam was born. 30 years later, federal law was amended that formally established the Judiciary of Guam as an independent, co-equal branch of the Government of Guam.

Since that time, the modern court management structure we have seen has and will always be a work in progress. Nevertheless, 2018 was a year that put on display the work of our judicial branch that is uniquely positioned to respond effectively to the needs of our rapidly growing and changing island community. Professional and focused court management has been an essential ingredient in ensuring that our trial and appellate courts can provide fair and accessible justice to all. Courts must have the confidence of those we serve in order to function effectively, and our judicial system has made unprecedented efforts to earn the respect and trust of the public and to meet its needs.

The size and complexity of today’s judicial branch would astonish those who began the process of providing a strong structure for our island court system 68 years ago. The numbers of cases filed, the variety of claims, the diversity of those appearing before the courts, and the tools available to today’s judges, court executives, and staff create challenges and opportunities unimaginable in 1950.

Guam and Micronesia is truly fortunate that experienced judges and professional court staff stand ready and able to meet future challenges with the same dedication that already has achieved so much.

Senseramente,

KATHERINE A. MARAMAN
Chief Justice of Guam

JOHN Q. LIZAMA
Administrator of the Courts

2018 YEAR IN REVIEW

Guam Adult Reentry Court Formally Established

In April 2018, following the passage of Public Law 34-81, the Supreme Court of Guam formally established the Guam Adult Reentry Court Program. The program’s mission is to reduce recidivism and increase public safety by providing the necessary tools and skills to individuals transitioning from incarceration or parole into the community. Led by the Judiciary, community partners comprised of government and community-based organizations have developed a strategic plan to ensure comprehensive, individualized service delivery. Pre-release services include education, job skills training, and treatment for substance abuse. Post-release services include counseling, educational and job training programs and housing and public assistance for qualified participants. The Judiciary hopes to reduce recidivism in the target group by half over a five-year period. Seventeen post-release participants were involved in the program in 2018.

2018 State of the Judiciary Address

On May 1, 2018, Chief Justice Katherine A. Maraman gave her second State of the Judiciary Address at the Guam Congress Building. Underscoring the strides the Judiciary has made in the areas of public safety, probation reform, and therapeutic justice, but noting the threat to the court’s delivery of these and other services by recent budget shortfalls, Chief Justice Maraman stressed the importance of the executive and legislative branches’ role in ensuring the adequate and equitable funding of the Judiciary.

2018 State of the Judiciary Address

"We, a separate and co-equal branch of government, play a critical role in public safety, in protecting children, in resolving family disputes, and maintaining commerce by adjudicating business disputes. . . . Courts are vital to maintaining the infrastructure of our society. Although not always noticeable, it becomes more apparent in the face of rapidly changing economic and social landscapes. Businesses, government, and individuals need access to fair, quick, and neutral dispute resolution. There is no doubt that in measuring the modern business climate of Guam, the due-process methods and the timeliness of the disposition of lawsuits play a significant role in the result."

Pacific Judicial Council

The Pacific Judicial Council (PJC) is a regional organization of judicial officers from: Guam; the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands; the Federated States of Micronesia (FSM) and the states of Chuuk, Kosrae, Pohnpei, and Yap; American Samoa; and the Republic of Palau. PJC provides educational and training opportunities to the judicial officers, administrators, and employees of the PJC's member jurisdictions.

PJC training events in 2018 included:

- Court Security Training
- Enhancing Judicial Skills in Elderly Abuse Cases
- Workshop for Judges and Lawyers with the American College of Trial Lawyers

Operation Deviant Guard

From June 25-28, 2018, the United States Marshals Service and the Probation and Marshal Services Divisions of the Judiciary of Guam collaborated on the verification of sex offender registration in Guam and outstanding warrants of arrest with an emphasis on sex related crimes. Over a five day period, eight fugitives were arrested for various felony offenses. Additionally, 113 sex offender verifications were conducted and two were found to be non-compliant.

Guam WINGS Implementation and Guardianship Training Program

With grant assistance from the State Justice Institute, the Judiciary implemented the National Guardianship Network's Working Interdisciplinary Networks of Guardianship Stakeholders (WINGS) program in 2018. WINGS involves a collaborative, broad-based working group of stakeholders that continually evaluates guardianship practices, targets problems and solutions, and acts as the mechanism for ensuring regular communication among all stakeholders. In 2018, legislation was drafted to replace the Public Guardian Review Board with Guam WINGS and to update membership composition and requirements. Starting in July 2018, a monthly guardianship training program is offered to new and existing guardians, who attend at the direction of the court. At year end, 29 guardians have completed the training.

Citizen Centric Report Commended by AGA

In August 2018, the Judiciary of Guam released its 2017 Citizen-Centric Report. A copy was transmitted to the Speaker of the Guam Legislature pursuant to Public Law 30-127, with copies sent to the Office of Public Accountability and Office of the Governor of Guam. 58 days later, the Judiciary of Guam was presented a Certificate in Citizen-Centric Reporting by the Association of Government Accountants for the court's "commitment to good government and responsible fiscal action."

More than 100 civil and domestic cases were identified to be part of the pilot of cases for the initiative. The Subcommittee on the Rules of Civil Procedure and Rules of Court Revision reconvened and continues to work on reviewing and revising current rules. In just a few short months of the launch of the initiative, the CCMT has already seen progress in the timely resolution of the piloted cases.

"This program affects the whole family directly," said Chief Justice Katherine A. Maraman. "I am pleased with the progress of the Guam Family Recovery Program and its approach to justice-involved family issues." In 2017, the Guam Family Recovery Program was established to assist parents involved in Persons in Need of Assistance cases due to their neglect and substance abuse. The 18-month program is organized around the key components of the Drug Courts currently in place in Guam, including parental substance abuse treatment, improved interaction between prosecuting and defense attorneys and families, early intervention of substance abuse, and a continuum of care that is culturally respectful and family-centered.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH AND EDUCATION

Law Week 2018

“Separation of Powers: Framework for Freedom”

2018 marked the 11th year of partnership among the Judiciary of Guam, the District Court of Guam, and the Guam Bar Association (GBA) in celebrating Law Week. To kick off the event, representatives from all three branches of government gathered for a joint proclamation and resolution presentation. With the Law Day 2018 theme of “Separation of Powers: Framework for Freedom” in mind, the Guam Legislature, in a series of firsts, graciously hosted the ceremony at the Guam Congress Building.

Law Fair

Keeping with the Law Day theme, both the legislative and executive branches hosted the annual Law Fair, with activities spread between the Guam Congress Building and its next-door neighbor, the Guam Museum. Members of the community were entertained by elementary and middle school students performing fairytale mock trial plays held in both the legislative session hall and hearing room. The performances were broadcast live on the Guam Legislature channel, reaching thousands of island residents. Attendees visited information booths featuring several law-related organizations and community partners and vied for a chance to win a popular tablet by participating in a scavenger hunt.

Appellate Outreach Argument

The Supreme Court of Guam held its annual appellate outreach argument at one of the island's high schools. The court heard arguments in a high-profile petition for writ of mandamus brought by the Governor of Guam against the Guam Legislature, with the issues in the case squarely (and coincidentally) focusing on the separation of powers among the branches, including the court. With the entire student body in attendance, students and teachers were provided a case summary a few weeks before the argument. Justice Robert Torres's opening remarks explained the significance of the issues presented in the case—specifically, whether the Governor could successfully petition the court to issue a writ mandating that the Legislature transmit the Bill in question to the Governor.

Fairy Tale Mock Trials

By far the most popular Law Week event, island residents packed the courtrooms to watch hundreds of elementary and middle school students enthusiastically reinterpret classic fairy tales in a courtroom setting. Many residents also partook in the Judiciary's Open House, which included guided tours of the Superior Court and Supreme Court.

Islandwide High School Mock Trial Competition

The Law Week sponsors honored the participants of the Islandwide High School Mock Trial Competition at a special awards ceremony held during the Law Fair.

The following winners were recognized:

First Place – Okkodo High School

Second Place – Notre Dame High School

Third Place – St. John's School

Outstanding Witnesses – Bryan Joseph, St. John's School

Kiara Redmond, Notre Dame High School

Rachel Bang, Simon Sanchez High School

Outstanding Attorney – Josiah Mesngon, Notre Dame High School

Coloring, Art, and Essay Contests

The artistic talents of the island's elementary school children in grades K-5 were displayed in the Judiciary's atrium throughout Law Week. Hundreds of colorful artwork entries were submitted for the Art and Coloring Contests. Middle and high school students participated in the local Law Day Essay Contest, which asked them to describe the functions of the three branches of government and explain why it is essential to have a government with distinct and separate powers.

The following winners were honored at a special ceremony during the Law Fair:

Coloring Contest (K – 2nd Grade)

Hustisia Award

The Hustisia Award recognizes a person or organization that has contributed significantly to the administration of justice and good government in Guam. The 2018 Hustisia Award was presented to Erica's House, the Soroptimist International of Guam, and the Soroptimist International of the Marianas. These organizations were recognized for their roles in providing a safe visitation and exchange space for parents and children in need of these services.

Race Judicata 5K Run/Walk

The Race Judicata 5K Run/Walk, dubbed this year as “The Carabao Run” featured cultural performers and rides on a live carabao with hundreds of participants attending. Proceeds benefited the Guam Legal Services Corporation, the island’s only private, non-profit corporation that provides legal representation to the low-income community of Guam.

Relay for Life

In May, the Judiciary continued its years-long tradition of supporting the American Cancer Society’s Relay for Life. The annual event challenges the community to share Relay for Life with everyone in their lives. Team Kotte answered the call and through its fundraising efforts reached Gold donor status. The team joined hundreds of participants from across the island on the George Washington High School track during the parade of teams, and participated in the luminaria ceremony and closing ceremony.

Juror Appreciation Week

In June, the Judiciary celebrated Juror Appreciation Week to recognize jurors for their service and highlight the essential role jurors play in the judicial process. The celebration kicked off with a joint proclamation and resolution presentation from all three branches of government. Throughout the week, media outreach events educated the public on the importance of jury service in our legal system.

Constitution Week

In September, the Judiciary held its annual Constitution Week celebration and outreach. All three branches of government participated in a proclamation and resolution signing commemorating the event. Judiciary attorneys and law clerks visited several schools and, through interactive lessons, taught over 1,000 students about the complicated history of voting rights in the United States, including the ongoing efforts to expand those rights to citizens in the territories. Students received pocket Constitutions as prizes for participation.

Safe & Drug-Free Schools Project

Since 2007, the Judiciary of Guam and the Guam Department of Education (DOE) have partnered in several law-related, civic, and prevention education programs. The Judiciary's Safe and Drug-Free Schools Project collaborates with public and private schools to teach and implement evidence-based programs, best practices, and proven strategies that raise awareness, cultivate empathy, and strengthen foundations for youth and families to thrive in today's tech-savvy and diverse island culture. The Project goal is to prevent youth crime and violence and to keep kids safe so that they may succeed academically and socially. Certified trainers Joleen Respicio (Project Manager), Danielle Rosete (Superior Court Clerk of Court), and Lisa Baza (Individual, Marriage, & Family Therapist) provide training to youth and adults in the schools, as well as to stakeholders and other community members. The U.S. Department of Education Title V-A Consolidated Grant #84-403A is the primary funding source for the Project.

Olweus® Bullying Prevention Program

The OBPP uses a holistic approach to bullying (peer abuse) and violence prevention. By addressing these issues, schools create a more positive school environment conducive to learning and academic success. The OBPP is listed on Blueprints for Healthy Youth Development Registry of Evidence-based Positive Youth Development Programs. Throughout the school year, certified trainers trained elementary and secondary students and school staff. In 2018, six private elementary and middle schools administered the annual evaluation survey, the Olweus® Bullying Questionnaire (OBQ), to 1,025 students in third through eighth grade.

Safe School Ambassadors® Program

Schools that implement the SSA Program have fully engaged, equipped, and empowered their students as peacemakers, change agents to improve the school climate. Safe school ambassadors are students trained to become "upstanders" in their schools through the support of family group facilitators or adult coaches. Ambassadors learn a special skill set that provides them the motivation, support, and intervention skills to address bullying and harassment. The program is listed in the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration's National Registry of Evidence-based Programs and Practices. The Project conducts an annual two-day training to new students. In 2018, five public and private schools were trained, and ten schools will train in 2019.

Play by the Rules™ Program

2018 marked ten years of teaching students about laws through a curriculum of best practices proven to prevent youth crime. The innovative, national program teaches youth about their legal rights and responsibilities, to become civic-minded, responsible young citizens, and provides them the tools needed to prevent crime, save lives, and build healthier and safer communities. The program provides a handbook, Play by the Rules: Guam Laws for Youth, for every student to own, take home, and share with their families. PBR teaches Guam-specific law to youth through a color-illustrated, Q&A format covering over 200 laws. In 2018, certified trainers conducted a workshop to public and private school teachers. Trainers also conducted outreach training to public school students on Guam's youth laws on bullying, cyber bullying, and sexting.

School Resource Officers (SRO) Program

The SRO Program places probation officers with specialized training as school-based law enforcement officers to serve as SROs in schools. SROs work with school administrators and school security and safety professionals to protect students, faculty and staff, and the schools they attend. The SROs utilize the National Association of School Resource Officers (NASRO) "triad" concept of school-based policing, a true and tested strength of the program. Triad responsibilities include: law-related educator, law enforcement officer, and informal counselor or mentor within the context of knowledge, training, and expertise as a law enforcement officer. SROs are a liaison between school, court, police, and other law enforcement officers and agencies.

In 2018, six SROs were assigned to the island's six public high schools. They assisted in handling 391 DOE level-three incidents (criminal in nature). Throughout the year, they conducted approximately 472 law-related educational sessions to high school students. The 2018 annual SRO survey included 4,074 students (50% female and 50% male, representing 41% of all public high school students) and 65 school staff (8% of all public high school staff). Overall, students perceived the role of the SRO in schools as adding value to their respective school's safety and security. 61% of students supported having an SRO in their schools. On average, 40% of students felt SROs had reduced disciplinary behaviors and their fear of crime, and had increased their awareness of legal matters. 10% of students (413) had spoken to their SRO privately on law-related matters.

EMPLOYEE TRAINING AND DEVELOPMENT

Employee Training and Development

With the combined efforts of the staff of the Human Resources Office, Judicial Educator Dr. Richard W. Fee, and Program Coordinator IV Michelle Cruz, the Judiciary provided 70 training sessions for court employees throughout 2018.

Notable training events in 2018:

- Two comprehensive On-Boarding programs for new court employees were held in April and November. A total of 36 new employees completed the two-day curriculum, taking classes in Introduction to Judiciary, Anatomy of the Court, HR Policies, Court Culture, Code of Conduct, Social Media, the Learning Management System, Occupant Emergency Plans, Active Shooter, and Equal Employment Opportunity/Americans with Disabilities Act Compliance.

- In March 2018, the Judiciary brought Glory Gervacio Saure, Director of the EEOC Office in Hawaii, to conduct two new trainings required by the EEOC, Leading for Respect (for Supervisors) and Respect in the Workplace (for Non-Supervisors). Additional trainings were held for the remainder of the year to ensure that all Judiciary employees received the updated training.

• The Judiciary hosted “The Justice System, Law Enforcement and Persons with Disabilities,” a law enforcement professional development course approved by the Guam Peace Officer Standards and Training (P.O.S.T.) Commission. Two Judicial Education Center staff conducted the two-day training at various times throughout the year, bringing in experts from the community such as parents from Autism Community Together, Guam Legal Services Corporation – Disability Law Center, and Guam Department of Integrated Services for Individuals with Disabilities.

• To ensure the accuracy and integrity of Judiciary proceedings and to ensure equal access to justice, the Judiciary provides language assistance and services to individuals with Limited English Proficiency (LEP) or who are Deaf and Hard of Hearing (DHH). Parties are provided a court interpreter to assist with the understanding of court proceedings and to ensure equal participation in court programs and services. In February, 18 interpreters completed a Court Interpreter Refresher Course to maintain their qualification as registered interpreters. In November, 19 additional interpreters completed their Basic Skills Training, bringing the total number of active registered Court Interpreters to 69, providing interpreter services in 21 languages.

• The Judiciary of Guam hosted two teams of employees from the Palau Judiciary for training. Several members of the Judiciary’s management team conducted the six-day training for the visiting staff from Melekeok and Koror who support the trial and appellate court needs at the two locations. The courses included Purposes of Courts, Fundamentals of Case Flow Management, and Role of the Clerk. Several Judiciary of Guam employees also attended the training. It was the first judicial training program held in Guam for Palau Judiciary staff since 2000.

• In June 2018, the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration GAINS Center conducted a train-the-trainer course on “How Being Trauma-Informed Improves Criminal Justice System Responses.” The regional training included representatives from the CNMI, the Marshall Islands, the FSM, and Palau, as well as participants from the Judiciary of Guam, District Court of Guam, Department of Corrections, Salvation Army Lighthouse Recovery Center, Sanctuary Inc., Guam Behavioral Health and Wellness Center, Guam Police Department, and Public Defender Service Corporation.

Supreme Court Offices

The Supreme Court of Guam has administrative oversight over the following offices: the Compiler of Laws, the Ethics Prosecutor, and the Public Guardian.

Office of the Compiler of Laws

In 2018, the Office of the Compiler of Laws, working in conjunction with the Judiciary's Management Information Systems Office, expanded the ability of legal professionals and the public to research Guam laws, by introducing an update to the Judiciary of Guam Web Search feature. Now, people can search Superior Court of Guam decisions and orders, and the opinions of the Supreme Court of Guam, completely free of charge. The Web Search is available on both the Compiler's and the Judiciary of Guam websites. The new feature is an expansion of the existing capability to search the Guam's statutory code, the Guam Code Annotated.

The Web Search features the entire body of Supreme Court opinions, from 1996 to the present. For Superior Court decisions and orders, the most recent documents were added periodically throughout the year; while at the same time, the historical decisions were added in reverse chronological order. By the end of 2018, more than 1,000 decisions and orders were added, covering 2015 to 2018.

The Compiler's Office is already planning to further expand the available sources on the Web Search, and include the capability of searching current and historical executive orders and public laws.

Geraldine Amparo Cepeda, Compiler of Laws and Guam Law Library Executive Director/Librarian

Office of the Ethics Prosecutor

The Office of the Ethics Prosecutor is responsible for the investigation and prosecution of all matters involving allegations of professional misconduct by lawyers and judicial officers in the lawyer and judicial disciplinary systems, respectively, and the investigation into allegations of the unauthorized practice of law. In each system, the process involves an initial screening by prosecuting/disciplinary counsel and, if authorized by the respective investigative committee, further inquiry into the allegations by the prosecuting counsel. The process may result in the filing of formal charges against a lawyer or judicial officer. The proceedings before the lawyer disciplinary authority are confidential until formal discipline is imposed by the Supreme Court of Guam. The proceedings before the judicial disciplinary authority are confidential until formal charges are filed and served. The office explains the disciplinary process to complainants and apprises them of the status of their complaints including final disposition.

In 2018, twenty-five new lawyer discipline matters were opened. Additionally, 53 matters were open when the year began. At year-end, 59 matters remained open, including a number which were stayed or held in abeyance. Thus, 19 matters were brought to conclusion during 2018. The 59 open and active matters at year-end consisted of 22 opened in 2018, 24 opened in 2017, 3 opened in 2016, and 10 opened prior to 2016.

One new judicial discipline matter was opened in 2018. The matter is pending the appointment of members to the Committee on Judicial Discipline.

The Office of the Ethics Prosecutor also fielded an average of more than a dozen informal inquiries each month from members of the bar and the public regarding the lawyer and judicial discipline systems.

Alberto E. Tolentino, Ethics Prosecutor

Office of the Public Guardian

The Public Guardian serves as a guardian of the person or estate of an adult who, by reason of age, disease, or disability, is unable to properly manage and take care of him or herself or his or her property without assistance. Referrals for guardianship services are submitted to the Office of the Public Guardian (OPG) from Superior Court judges; from families of adults who need assistance; and from government offices, including the Guam Memorial Hospital and the Skilled Nursing Unit, Guam Behavioral Health and Wellness Center, and Adult Protective Services of the Department of Public Health and Social Services. Community organizations, such as Catholic Social Services and St. Dominic's, also contact the OPG for referrals and assistance. The OPG also assists and advises guardians, those who are seeking to become guardians, and the court in proceedings involving the appointment and supervision of guardians.

The OPG continues to work on initiatives to assist guardians, including the establishment of the Working Interdisciplinary Networks of Guardianship Stakeholders (WINGS) program on Guam, with the assistance of a grant from the State Justice Institute. A monthly WINGS training class is offered to new and existing guardians upon the direction of the court.

Marcelene C. Santos, Public Guardian

Since 2017, Juvenile Drug court cases which involve a drug or alcohol offense are filed as Juvenile Delinquency cases. Juvenile Proceedings cases include juvenile guardianship matters, truancy, status offenses, and juvenile abuse and neglect cases. Domestic cases include divorce actions, custody, paternity, and child support issues.

From 2017 to 2018, there was a 40.6% decrease in the number of traffic citations filed. This decline was the primary reason for the decrease in the total case filings in 2018. Despite this, the Superior Court saw an increase in other case types such as criminal felony filings, juvenile proceedings, and probate filings.

Courts and Ministerial Division

The Courts and Ministerial Division (C&M), is essential to court operations and plays a vital role in the judicial process. The C&M staff provides the highest level of service to all judicial officers, attorneys, and the public at two court locations – the Hagåtña Court and the Northern Court Satellite. Some essential duties of the Division include managing and processing all Superior Court case filings; maintaining the custody and control of all Superior Court records; assembling juries; providing court transcription services; preparing court clearances; and processing traffic citations.

Other essential services include the fair and equitable assignment of cases to Superior Court judicial officers, providing support staff for judges’ chambers, managing the Court Interpreter Registry Program, and facilitating the use of the Self-Represented Litigants Kiosk by persons representing themselves in court proceedings. In 2018, the Division assisted with the launch of the Civil Justice Reform initiative led by the Chief Justice and Clerk of Court and was instrumental in the implementation of the Tax Refund Offset Program for outstanding traffic citations.

C&M includes the following units:

- Intake, Mid-intake & E-Filing
- Records
- Traffic Violations Bureau
- Small Claims Court
- Team Units
- Appeals
- Jury Unit
- Master Calendar Cases
- Court Reporters Unit
- Court Interpreter Registry Program

Danielle T. Rosete, Clerk of Court

Court Interpreter Registry Program

The Court Interpreter Registry Program (Program) promotes the accuracy and integrity of judicial proceedings and preserves fundamental principles of fairness and access to justice by providing interpreter services to persons with limited English proficiency. Judiciary staff train interpreters and provide interpreter services in both court hearings and non-courtroom matters.

In 2018, the Program trained and recruited 19 additional interpreters. Currently, the Program has 69 active registered interpreters who provide interpreter services for more than 21 languages. The Program provided interpreter services in nearly 8,000 court hearings and over 1,000 non-courtroom matters.

Jury Management Statistics

The Jury Unit oversees the jury process for matters brought before the Superior Court and is primarily responsible for ensuring the availability of grand jurors and trial jurors. Each year, thousands of island residents, representing a fair cross-section of the community are summoned for jury duty. The Jury Unit conducts orientations for the summoned jurors to provide jurors the necessary information for jury service. In 2018, nearly 15,000 jurors were present for jury service. Although the number of jurors present decreased from the previous year, there was an increase in the number of cases presented to the grand jury.

Therapeutic Courts

Adult Drug Court

The Adult Drug Court (ADC) involves cases where defendants are charged with a drug offense (and may include other criminal offenses in addition to the drug offense). The goal of the ADC program is to provide intensive treatment and counseling services to help participants with their substance abuse addictions. Participants eligible for the ADC program must undergo frequent random drug testing and agree to sanctions for failure to comply with the program guidelines. There are two tracks to the ADC program – ADC I for first-time possession offenders, and ADC II for repeat offenders whose offenses were related to drug or alcohol use.

In 2018, the ADC I Program provided drug and alcohol treatment services for 151 participants. Three graduation ceremonies were held with 29 participants successfully graduating from ADC I. Nine new participants entered the ADC II Program in 2018, ending the year with a total of 32 active participants.

Family Violence Court

The Family Violence Court is an integrated domestic violence court that allows a family to have civil and criminal cases arising from the same incident heard by the same judge who addresses legal issues that occur within families. The “One Judge, One Family” concept helps improve caseload efficiency while increasing the services provided to victims and increasing defendant accountability. User-friendly court forms for persons seeking a restraining order are accessible at the Judiciary’s Self Represented Kiosks and the court website. The Client Services and Family Counseling Division also provides individual and group counseling to defendants in criminal family violence cases.

Court Administrative Services Division

The Judiciary’s Court Administrative Services Division consists of the following offices: Court Programs, Human Resources, Financial Management, Management Information Systems, and Procurement & Facilities Management.

Court Programs Office

The Court Programs Office is responsible for obtaining and managing federal grants to fund Judiciary programs and initiatives. These grants allow the Judiciary to develop new programs in response to the emerging needs of the community, and to enhance existing initiatives, without relying solely on local appropriations. The office’s consistent performance in compliance monitoring and programmatic and fiscal reporting has assured grantors that the Judiciary is a responsible administrator of federal monies.

In addition to managing the $4.6 million in grants for 16 ongoing projects from previous fiscal years, the Court Programs Office secured an additional $2.9 million in new federal grant funding in 2018. These new projects include:

- $736,289 for Guam Adult Reentry Court Program Enhancement
- $532,598 for Veterans Treatment Court Enhancement Project
- $362,375 for SAMHSA Family Drug Court Program
- $305,244 for Automated Fingerprint Identification System

Cerina Y. Mariano, Court Programs Administrator

Probation Services Division

The mission of the Probation Services Division (PSD) is to reduce the incidence and impact of criminal behavior of court-involved juveniles and adults by using evidence-based practices and treatment strategies that change criminal thinking, produce positive outcomes and ultimately increase community safety.

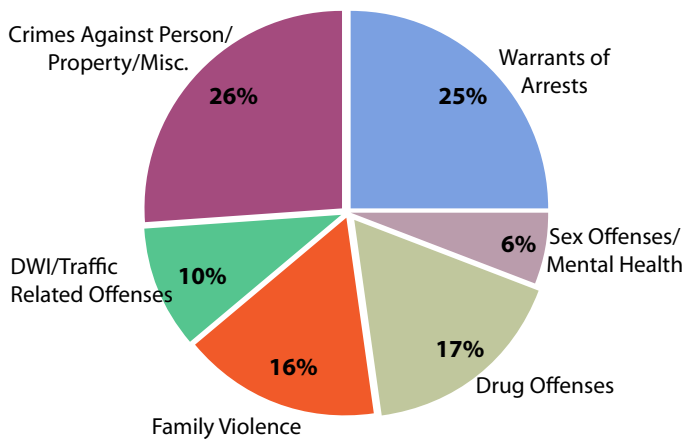

Effective community supervision in the 21st century is an overarching goal of PSD. Probation officers are moving away from traditional surveillance and supervision methods to more data-driven practices that hold individuals accountable while providing opportunities for successful outcomes. Presently, PSD is responsible for managing and monitoring court orders for more than 7,000 court-involved juveniles and adults placed on supervised release. Additionally, PSD maintains Guam's sex offender registry. PSD's several duties include: monitoring compliance of court orders; tracking and enforcing fines, restitution payments, and court-ordered treatment services; and administering drug and alcohol testing. The division also administers several programs for its clients, including community service and service learning programs, the Driving with Care program, theft diversion programs, educational/rehabilitative programs, and anger and stress management programs. PSD is also involved in community policing through the School Resource Officer program.
